

Testimonial MenaAk47 – Experience within the FiveM community

By MenaAk47- Summary of a lived experience

Warden blacklisted my Discord server in 2023 (i guess), resulting in many of custoemr getting banned simply for being a part of this community. On top of that, they falsely reported my Tebex store, which triggered a 15-day shutdown and caused a massive financial loss for my business.

Hoping to resolve the situation, I joined their Discord and opened a ticket. They demanded proof that my work contained no leaked or copied code. Even though sharing proprietary source code with strangers is a huge risk, I had nothing to hide. I handed over the full source code for my car boosting and inventory scripts. After a thorough review, they couldn't find a single line of stolen code.

Clearly disappointed that their accusations fell flat, they changed their story. They claimed I was somehow 'harming the ESX community' and demanded a ridiculous $10,000 in compensation. I have no idea how I was harming them, especially since I was dedicating my time to making ESX scripts to help keep that framework alive while the majority of the player base was moving to QBCore.

Despite me proving my scripts were 100% original, they refused to lift the blacklist and chose to keep punishing my customers. It's obvious now that this isn't about protecting the community—it's a targeted, personal vendetta. They closed the ticket and refused to unblacklist my discord.
